The Democrate have commenced shouting "Tilden and Hendricks-reform! reform!! reform! !!" Well, the Republicans will give them reform in good earnest when voting time comes around, so they will.

The Chicago Journal of June 19th published a supplement of eighty-four pages, eight columns to the page. It was the delinquent tax hat of that village. The Phoenix city is not good at paying taxes promptly.

The Lausing Republican tells of a man in that city who was bragging about the popularity of Tildee, and closed his remarks by saving that but two Hayes and Wheeler men had been in his place of business during the day. That man keeps a saloon.

Bondon the Old South Church in Boston, there now remain only three of the public buildings that stood in the city a hundred years had in use from 1756 to 1860 an organ which, tradition has it, was selected by the great

Speaking of the St. Louis convention the New York Evening Post assa, "When the convention met we had a right to look for something worthier of the occasion, but we doubt whether any deliberative body of equal size which over assembled in the United States has betrayed euch immediate and fatal barrenness of ideas and such atter inability to grasp such arge questions as were shown in the speech.

In commenting on the work of the late republicae convention at Cincinnati, the New York Tribune holds that there is but one voice in the republican party with respect to the nominees-Hayes and Wheeler. The republican press of all localities represent the sentiment to be a readmess to accept the choice of the convention not only with civility, but with and Wheeler are candidates that it will be hard satisfaction. It appears that Mr. Hayes was for them to defeat. One of their principal really the first choice of but few, but was the second choice of every opposing faction in the give up the expectation of securing any part convention, and stood so high with all that it of the independent vote. It says: was no great trial or effort, when they found themselves obliged to give up their pets and real preferences, to fall back on so worthy and excellent a substitute. Therefore the nomination arouses no bad feelings-fans no animosi-

The rivals, whose names were on everybody's tips three weeks ago, have swallowed their personal and bitter disappointments quite easily because all went down together. All are prepared to enter the canvass for Governor Hayes and labor for his success with earnestness Blains, Morton, Bristow and even Conkling and their supporters, go into the canvass as enthusiastic supporters of Hayes and Wheeler.

It was confidently predicted that the result of the Cincinnati convention would produce outbreaks in the republican ranks that would be certain to endanger the ticket if it did not defeat it. No such result has yet manifested steelf, nor is it likely to, for the candidacy of Mr. Hayes, before the convention, was so mild and so eminently fair and unobtrusive that no animosities or recentments were engandered or provoked. The close of the convention found the republican party more firmly cemented as one grand unit than it had been for some time in the past. The same cannot be said of the democratic party, for some of the factions that opposed Tilden, left St. Louis unreconciled

"There is no danger now of a third candidate, whoever may be nominated at St. Louis. The Independents as a body, while reserving their liberty of action until the democratic ticket is put into the field, are prepared to accept Hayes as a gentleman of pure life and honest purposes, under whom we may expect a decent administration, and hope for substantial reform. They perceive that in the nomination of a man who has had no connection with the exandals of the administration and no affiliations with any Rings, whose personal character is above reproach, and whose public record is thoroughly honorable, they have won an important victory, and they are not disponed to grumble because the victory is not more decisive or has not been won in the precise way they desired." Burrows, by sending a delagation to the congressional convention fully metruoted to support him. It is said that there was great unanimity in the county convention. Below will be found the resolutions, and the comments of the Telegraph The Benton Harbor Palladium, as will be seen, has pronounced for Mr. Burrows, and the Cass County Republican follows suit: and the prospect now is, that county will send a Burrows delegation to the congressional conven-

It is understood that St. Joseph county is decidedly pronounced for Mr. Burrows, while the appearances are that Berrien county will go the same way. The sentiment in this county is at present divided, with, perhaps, a preponderance in favor of presenting a Van Buren county man.

From the Kalamazoo Telegraph, July 1. It is with much pleasure that we announce he result of the Kalamazoo County Convention this afternoon, and think it done wisely in presenting the name of Hon. J. C. Burrows as its Convention at the Congressional Convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District of Michigan are requested to meet at Peak's Hali, in the city of Niles, at 11 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday, the 8th day of August, 1876, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative in the 45th Congress. It is recommended that the basis of representation adopted by the fact State Convention be followed in the apportionment of delegates to this Convention, upon which basis the county of Bernen will have 12 delegates; Kalamazoo, 12; Van Burrow, 10; 8t. Joseph, 10; Case, 8. Total. 52.

WM. P. BENNETT, F. W. CURTENIUS, Eat BERBE, choice for the nomination at the Congressional tegrity, and capability, he would represent this District faithfully and well. He is the most popular campaign speaker in the State and has gained a national reputation as such, and all acknowledge that Capt. He can make an effective and telling canvas of the District, and as all past differences in this county have been healed (if the action of this capture of the residual capture). has put forward no candidate, and upon its ballot will largely depend the choice of the conundivided support of the county. Cass county will enter the convention with one candidate, while St. Joseph and Kalamazoo counties will unite and bring forward J. C. Burrows, of Kalamazoo. While we entertain the greatest respect for both Mr. Dyckman and Mr. Clisbee, in choosing a representative we unhesitatingly select Mr. Burrows as the one best fitted to satisfy the entire district, and who will do honor to his constituency in the legislative halls. He is better known throughout the district than any other candidate. He has a national reputation as an orator and is a staunch Republican wheel horse, tried and true. He has a record which all may read, and of which he may well be proud. It will be said by the friends of other candidates that Mr. Burrows was defeated two years ago, and that he has enemies in the ago. These are Christ Church, the Old State whelming majority, and in recommending him crats. to the convention, we believe we are speaking the minds of the voters of Berrien county, and furthering the best interests of its people.

Rev. James Freeman Clarke, who was a delegate from Massachusetts at the Cincinnati Convention, preached on the subject of the nominations on Sunday last, concluding as follows:

"It was a striking scene in the convention when, one after another, the chairman of the delegations from Indiana, Kentucky, New York and Pennsylvania ascended the platform and withdrew the names of those they had been supporting so gailantly and so long, and cast the votes of their respective States for Gov. Hayes of Ohio. It was the triumph of patriotism over personal and local interests, and has probably saved the nation from four years of misrule and serious danger. And I regard it as not an unsuitable illustration of the spirit I have been describing and recommending in this discourse, and as a fortunate illustration of the ability of the nation for self-government, and of the human race for ultimately becoming one great family, with God as father, Jesus Christ as master, because the best illustration of a true son of God, and all mankind as brethren. This is the great consummation for which we pray, for which we all are laboring whenever we do our duties, toward which we all tend, under the divine providence of God." tions on Sunday last, concluding as follows:

The editor of the Detroit Daily Newf, a non characteristics and qualities of the republican candidate for the Presidency, and to that end democrate as well as republicans, and thereby has arrived at a pretty just and fair estimate of his character, learning and ability. In a con-versation with a prominent German democrat, holding one of the highest elective offices in the neighborhood of Columbus, the latter gives this estimate of Mr. Hayes:

this estimate of Mr. Hayes:

Hayes is not a genius, but he has been a hard student, and may without exaggeration be called a political philosopher. He has a wonderful calmness and correctness of judgment, and is much better in counsel than in action. He is so extremely unassuming and retiring that he will never "cut a figure," and would perhaps fail where a supreme and immediate action was necessary. Not that he would lack moral courage to pursue any course he believed right, but that he would take too much time to ascertain which course was right. He is slow but sure in his reasoning. In his private life he is absolutely above reproach; in his manners, courteous, dignified and unassuming. He has a particularly happy faculty of pleasing the people in his personal contact with them, without the use of any of the arts of demagoguery. This, I think, arises from his innate kindliness of character rather than from any effort te please. His great strength as a political candidate lies in the fact that in the fact that

HE NEVER MAKES A MISTAKE. The Roman Catholic Bishop, Rosecrans, of Columbus, was a class-mate of Mr. Hayes in

Kenyon College. He says he was quite intimate with him during their school days and that he has maintained as intimate relations with him ever since as their widely separate walks in life would permit. His estimate of Mr. Hayes mental capacity was expressed in the and the same to every body following terms:

As yet Berrien county retained or appointed to any place but on the contrary rigidly excluded.

As to the political strength of Mr. Hayes in vention. Van Buren county has two candidates Ohio, the News editor, after talking with many in the field, neither of which will receive the of the leading democrats of that state, expresses this opinion:

The strong faith of every republican in Ohio that Hayes is invincible at the polls, and they already regard the carrying of Ohio in both the October and November elections as foregone conclusions, about which there is no sort of doubt whatever. They do not give themselves the least concern about the result at home, and regard New York as the battle ground. The democrats make little show of denying that this confidence of their enemies is well founded, and many of them almost concede the victory in the state to the republicans already. Their quarrel with their brethren of New York has proven much more demoralizing to themselves than to the "unterrified" of the Empire state, against whom their wrath is directed, and their insanity on the money question, so signally illustrated in the aberations of the Cincinnati Enquirer, their leading organ, has rent them into two hostile camps.

It will thus be seen that the republicans have

It will thus be seen that the republicans have Republican ranks. But it must be remembered a candidate in Mr. Hayes of whom they are that that was the off year in politics when fully justified in placing the fullest confidence, Democrate always use the plus sign. Gov. Hayes: "I know Hayes well, having From the proceedings of the Kalamazoo messed with him and his wife while he was in Congress. He is a strong man, well balanced, with large experience as a soldier, as governor of Ohio, as Congressman, and as a lawyer, who, whenever out of public duty, has found that kind of practice which proves that he has steadily enjoyed the confidence of business men and people of estate. His means are liberal. two bachelor uncles having left him, the one $250,000, and the other $400,000. His habits are simple and his hospitality boundless, and during his administration the White House will be presided over by a modest, intelligent, cultivated and sprightly woman, with a pair of laughing eyes as black and bright as your own, and who, if proud of anything in her husband's career, it is the heartiness of his life and his freedom from ostentation."

and Wheeler are candidates that it will be hard for them to defeat. One of their principal organs, the New York World, advises them to give up the expectation of securing any part of the Independent vote. It says:

No man in his senses in any part of the country can any longer delude himself into the belief that any candidate whom the Democrats may nominate will be supported by the so-called Reform Republicans of the north and west.

That journal then proceeds to call for a "strictly Democratic candidate," and a "strictly Democratic candidate, and a "strictly Democratic candidate, and a "strictly Democratic candidate," and a "strictly Democratic candidate, and a "strictly Democratic candidate," and a "strictly Democratic candidate, and a "strictly Democratic candidate," and a "strictly Democratic candidate, and a

The New York Republican Reform club, which labored hard to secure the nomination for Bristow, has adopted resolutions endorsing Hayes and Wheeler and the Cincinnati platform.

Says the Chicago Journal: Now is the time whon the college graduate comes into the newspaper office to know if he can't get a job as dramatic critic, correspondent at the Centennial or in Europe, city editor, managing editor, or, if nothing else is vacant, he would take the proprietorship.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues. and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial tochildren, and yet so searching as toeffectually purge out the great corrup-tions of the blood, such as the scrof-ulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Drop-sy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weak-ness, Debility, and Leucorrhoea, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression nd listless languor of the season Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.
